

As an Amateur Radio Operator, and Volunteer Examiner, I feel that the provisions of this docket need to be adopted. It is past time that Morse Code requirements be eliminated as a hurdle to obtaining an Amateur Radio License.

It is my feeling that adopting the provisions of this Docket will result in a resurgence in the Amateur Radio Service.

I feel that the old Morse Code requirements (prior to being reduced to a single 5 wpm test) was a great source of frustration and probably a psychological barrier that kept many thousands of amateurs from ever progressing through the ranks. Many of these amateurs passed away totally frustrated with the hobby for this reason.
